Two tents provide activities and entertainment for our younger marchers. Children can participate in soccer demonstrations, shoot some hoops, or test their coordination on the obstacle course. Inside the family tent, parents and children can listen to a story teller, watch a magic show, add to the Million Mom March mural or blow bubbles. Safety demonstrations, clowns, jugglers, balloon artists and face painters will also be roaming through the activity areas.

What can I do?

After the March, How Can I Make a Difference?

Now that you've marched for sensible gun laws, what else can you do to achieve that goal? How can we together end the senseless killing of 12 kids every day in America?

Volunteer with organizations that support sensible guns laws at the national, state and local levels. There are many excellent groups that need your ideas, your energy and your financial support to make good things happen.

Encourage your family and friends to become active for sensible gun laws. We can outweigh the millions of dollars of the NRA with millions of supporters across the country.

Learn about your elected officials at the local, state and national levels. Find out where they stand on the sensible gun laws promoted by the Million Mom March. Do they support licensing and registration? Do they favor child safety locks? Where do they stand on reducing access to guns?

Volunteer for political campaigns of candidates who support common sense gun legislation. In our great democracy, we change laws by changing the people who make the laws.

Vote! And make sure your friends and family vote for candidates who support laws that will protect our children from gun violence.

And, there is something else you can do during the course of your every day life to keep your children safer. ASK your neighbor if they have a gun in the home before you send your child over to play. Over 40 percent of homes with children have guns, many left unlocked and loaded, and every year, thousands of children are killed or injured in tragic accidents. Remember, Asking Saves Kids.
