(f) contain such other incidental and supplementary provisions as appear to the Minister to be necessary or desirable for the purposes of such regulations;

Provided that nothing in the foregoing provisions of this section or in section 3 shall authorize the making of any regulations providing for the trial of persons by military courts.

Cap. 1:01

5.—(1) Any regulation made under this Act may be made to apply to Malaŵi or to any part thereof, and to any person or class of persons or to the public generally. Application and effect of regulations

(2) Any regulation made under this Act, and any order or rule made under any such regulation, shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any law other than the Constitution, and to the extent of any such inconsistency any such law as aforesaid shall have no effect so long as such regulation, order or rule shall remain in force.

6. “firearm” means any barrelled weapon of any description from which any shot, bullet or other missile can be discharged or which can be adapted for the discharge of any such shot, bullet or other missile, and any weapon of whatever description designed or adapted for the discharge of any noxious liquid, gas or other thing dangerous to human beings, and includes any component part of any such weapon as aforesaid and any accessory to any such weapon designed or adapted to eliminate or diminish the noise or flash caused by firing any such weapon, but does not include any antique firearm which has been rendered incapable of use as a firearm.

3.—(1) The Minister may, if he considers it to be necessary for the preservation of public order so to do, make an order against any person directing that he be detained.

(2) Any person in respect of whom a detention order has been made may be arrested without warrant by any administrative officer, police officer or any member of the armed forces of Malawi.

(3) The Minister may at any time revoke or vary any detention order or may direct that the operation of such order be suspended subject to such conditions, if any, as the Minister may think fit, and may at any time revoke any such direction or suspension or vary any such conditions.

(4) Without prejudice to the generality of subregulation (3), where a detention order is suspended the person against whom the order is made may be subjected to conditions—

(6) Any person detained in pursuance of this regulation shall be deemed to be in lawful custody and shall be detained in such place as may be specified in the detention order or in accordance with any instructions which may be issued by the Minister in that behalf:

Provided that where the Minister specified in the detention order that a person shall be detained in any place declared to be a prison under the laws of Malawi relating to prisons, nothing in this subregulation shall be to the prejudice of any power under such law to direct the removal of such person from such prison to any other prison.

(7) Any authorized officer may, without warrant, arrest any person in respect of whom he has reason to believe that there are grounds which would justify his detention under this regulation, and any such person may be detained pending a decision whether a detention order should be made against him, and subregulation (6) shall apply in respect of his detention during such period.

(8) Any person detained in pursuance of this regulation shall perform such work as may be required of him from time to time by any person lawfully in authority over him.

(9) In every case where a detention order has been made, the Minister shall, at the end of a period of six months from the date of the making of such order, and thereafter at the end of every ensuing period of six months, review such order and shall consider whether such order should not be revoked, varied or suspended, having regard to all the circumstances of the case.

(2) A control order may be made for all or any of the following purposes, that is to say—

Any controlled person, whilst being so removed, shall be deemed to be in lawful custody.

(5) A controlled person who contravenes any of the provisions of the control order made against him or who fails to comply with any of the terms and conditions of any permit issued under subregulation (2) (a) shall be guilty of an offence.

(6) Any controlled person who is at any time in any place or area in contravention of the provisions of a control order or of the terms or conditions of any permit issued under subregulation (2) (a) may be removed from that place or area by any authorized officer, police officer or any person acting on behalf of the Minister, and for such purpose such force as may be reasonably necessary may be used. Any controlled person, whilst being so removed, shall be deemed to be in lawful custody.

(7) In every case where a control order has been made under this regulation, the Minister, or other such person as may be appointed by the Minister for this purpose, shall, at the end of a period of six months from the date of the making of such order, and thereafter at the end of every ensuing three months, review such order and shall consider whether such order should be revoked or amended having regard to all the circumstances.

(8) Any authorized officer may, without warrant, arrest any person in respect of whom he has reason to believe that there are grounds which would justify the making of a control order against him under this regulation, and any such person may be detained in custody for a period not exceeding 28 days pending a decision whether a control order should be made against him.
